

Community-Based Learning

Halifax Regional Centre for Education

Helping youth to:

- Make real-world connections
- Understand community roles and responsibilities
 - Develop employability and transferable skills
- Develop awareness of educational and career pathways
- Enhance personal development and sense of belonging to community

Options and Opportunities (O₂)

Three-year high school program with a focus on hands-on learning, in class and in the community. Students develop a career plan and gain skills and experience they need to make informed decisions. Community-based learning includes a range of learning opportunities; field trips, guest speakers, job shadows, career fairs, volunteering and service projects.

Co-operative Education

Students 16 years of age or older are matched with employers to gain real work experience, to help prepare them for today's labour market and give employers the chance to start building their future workforce.
